1. INTRODUCTION

As Ohio's elderly population continues to rise, the number of older adults at risk of abuse, neglect, and exploitation also is increasing. Physical and mental vulnerabilities may leave these individuals susceptible to abuse or neglect, including financial or mistreatment. Multiple state and local agencies are tasked with combatting and preventing elder abuse. The court can collaborate with community partners, such as adult protective services, law enforcement, and health care providers, to enhance outcomes for older adults.

This toolkit is designed to provide courts with practical resources and information for working with these cases.

6. GUIDELINES FOR SEEKING THE NECESSARY PROTECTIVE SERVICE ORDER

- ➔ In order for the court to grant a protective services order, the petition must demonstrate that the adult's impairment results in an inability to protect oneself. Below is a list of common APS definitions, as well as the specific findings that must be outlined in the petition for a protective service order.

OAC 5101:2-20-01 Adult protective services definitions

Incapacitated person lacks sufficient understanding or capacity to make and carry out reasonable decisions concerning the person's self or resources, with or without the assistance of a caretaker. Refusal to consent to the provision of services shall not be the sole determination that the person is incapacitated.

Reasonable decisions are decisions made in daily living which facilitate the provision of food, shelter, clothing, and health care necessary for life support.

In need of protective services means an adult known or suspected to be suffering from abuse, neglect, or exploitation to an extent that either life is endangered or physical harm, mental anguish, or mental illness results or is likely to result.

Adult protective services means an array of services provided to adults who are at risk of abuse, neglect or exploitation. Services include but are not limited to: intake/referral, investigating reports of abuse, neglect, or exploitation, and protective services as defined below.

Protective services means services provided by the CDJFS or its designated agency to an adult who has been determined by evaluation to require such services for the prevention, correction or discontinuance of an act of, as well as, conditions resulting from abuse, neglect or exploitation. Protective services may include, but are not limited to, case work services, medical care, mental health services, legal services, fiscal management, home health care, homemaker services, housing-related services, guardianship services, and placement services as well as the provision of such commodities as food, clothing, and shelter.

Validated (substantiated) means confirming evidence that substantiates or verifies the allegation of abuse/self-neglect/neglect/exploitation.

Protective Service Order Petition Shall Include:

- Degree of impairment resulting in the adult being unable to protect self
- Facts showing APS's attempts to obtain the adult or family's consent
- Facts showing interventions offered and/or provided with least restrictive alternatives
- Lack of an appropriate decision maker
- Need for a protective service plan
- Stated protective service plan

7. ALTERNATIVES TO ADULT GUARDIANSHIP

- When circumstances warrant an individual impaired, there are least restrictive avenues available to the individual before seeking adult guardianship. Pursuant to Sup.R. 66 and R.C. 2111.02, a probate court must explore the least restrictive alternatives before appointing a guardian.

Power of Attorney

A properly executed power of attorney can be a less restrictive alternative to guardianship of the estate and person.¹ A Power of Attorney (POA) is generally defined as written authorization for an appointed person to act as an agent on behalf of another known as a principal. It can be used for financial or healthcare purposes. A POA can be executed by an elder authorizing an individual to make decisions on his/her behalf in the event he/she can no longer do so. An agent has a fiduciary duty to exercise the power of attorney in the best interest of the principal, although there are few safeguards against abuse or protections from misuse.

The statute governing powers of attorney is found in R.C. Chapter 1337. As related to the care of a person, there are two kinds of powers of attorney: health care and financial. There is a standard form for a power of attorney located in R.C. 1337.60, and the form includes a checklist of powers to be granted to the agent.

The authority granted in a power of attorney can be effective immediately (non-springing) or be made effective upon the principal's incapacity or some other triggering event (springing).² A power of attorney is presumed to be durable and continues to be effective upon the incapacity of the principal unless the document says otherwise.³ A power of attorney can be filed with the county recorder, and any power of attorney regarding an interest in real property must be recorded.

A power of attorney may not always be an effective alternative to guardianship. R.C. 1337.14(A) states that a power of attorney for health care may be revoked at any time and in any manner. Institutions, such as banks, hospitals and nursing homes, may not honor a power of attorney because of concerns regarding revocation. Furthermore, institutions may not honor springing powers of attorney, as they may not be inclined to determine whether the events necessary to spring the power have been satisfied. Additionally, institutions may not honor any powers of attorney in high conflict situations.

In order to execute a valid power of attorney, the principal must appear to be of sound mind and not under or subject to duress, fraud, or undue influence at the time of execution.⁴ If the power of attorney is durable, the authority given to the agent survives the later incapacity or incompetence of the principal. However, questions surrounding the principal's competency to execute the power of attorney will limit the use of the power of attorney as an alternative to guardianship.

Furthermore, guardianship is often sought when the agent named in a power of attorney is unable or unwilling to act in the principal's best interest.⁵ Evidence of misconduct on the part of the agent is relevant to the probate court's decision to appoint a guardian even though a power of attorney has been executed.⁶ In these cases, guardianship will often be pursued, and a probate court must consider the power of attorney as a less restrictive alternative to guardianship to ensure the alleged incompetent's best interest.⁷ When the agent under a power of attorney has failed to utilize the power granted for the alleged incompetent's best interest, the instrument can be revoked by the probate court and the power can be held null and void.⁸

Additionally, court consideration for a person named as a guardian under a power of attorney remains subject to the suitability standards that all guardians must meet and considerations regarding the proposed ward's best interest. R.C. 2111.⁹

Trusts

A trust is another mechanism that may be used to avoid guardianship of the estate. Generally, a trust is a legal arrangement by which one person, the grantor, gives property to another, the trustee, to hold for the benefit of a beneficiary. With the exception of the special needs trust, the grantor/funder of the trust must have legal capacity to create a trust.¹⁰

9 See In re: Brenda Myers, 85 N.E.3d 217, No. 2016 AP 050028 (Fifth Dist., Tuscarawas County, Feb. 9, 2017).

10 In the case of a special needs trust, the trust can be funded with an incompetent adult's funds with the approval of the probate court. R.C. 5163.21 and R.C. 5815. Trustees of court-created trusts are, generally, required to seek approval for expenditures and account to the probate court.

Elders can create a trust with a trustee of their choice. In contentious situations, a neutral third party, such as a bank or person who everyone agrees to can serve as trustee. Banks often require a minimum trust amount and this alternative is used less widely for that reason.

There are several different trusts that may constitute a less restrictive alternative to guardianship: inter vivos trusts; special needs trusts; and testamentary trusts that are created through the will of grantor for the benefit of an incompetent adult.^{11, 12} Trusts can be revocable or irrevocable. A revocable trust is of limited use as an alternative for guardianship, as the trust's assets can be withdrawn. The terms of the trust must be written with specificity, as government benefits may be impacted by the beneficiary's access to trust funds.

A benefit of holding funds in trust is the flexibility for the use of funds. A grantor is able to list specific uses for trust property and to state their wishes with specificity.

The elder can create a trust with a neutral third party, such as a bank or person that everyone agrees to, to serve as trustee in contentious situations. A fiduciary relationship is created between the trustee and the beneficiary. However, trusts are not impervious to misappropriation by the trustee.¹³ The probate court can require bond for trusts that are overseen by the court.¹⁴ This alternative also avoids guardianship, and also requires follow up by the Eldercaring Coordinator or Adult Protective Services to insure that there is no abuse or exploitation.

Joint Ownership

Joint ownership, which allows a co-owner to manage money or property, may be used to avoid guardianship of the estate. If an elder has arranged for joint ownership of his or her property with another, that individual has the authority to make decisions regarding the use of the jointly owned property for the benefit of the proposed ward or the benefit of joint owner. An advantage of joint ownership is the retention of substantial rights for the alleged incompetent, as well as the reduction in annual accounting for a guardian of the estate.

11 See R.C. 5163, R.C. 2111.02(A) and In re Guardianship of Thomas, 148 Ohio App.3d 11, 771 N.E.2d 882 (Tenth Dist, Franklin County, 2002).

12 STABLE accounts also are a trust-like alternative to guardianship and are managed through the Ohio Secretary of State.

13 See In re Guardianship of Thomas, 148 Ohio App.3d 11, 771 N.E.2d 882 (Tenth Dist, Franklin County, 2002).

14 R.C. Chapter 2109.

7. ALTERNATIVES TO ADULT GUARDIANSHIP - cont.

Joint ownership must be completed while the property owner is still competent, and joint ownership can extend to nearly all kinds of property. For example, R.C. 5302.20 provides for survivorship tenancy of real property; R.C. 2131.12 provides for joint ownership with right of survivorship of motor vehicle, watercraft, or outboard motor; and R.C. 1109.07 provides for deposits in the name of two or more persons; deposits payable on death.

R.C. 5302.20:
Survivorship Tenancy of Real Property

R.C. 2131.12:
Right of Survivorship
of Motor Vehicle, Watercraft, or Outboard Motor

R.C. 1109.07:
Deposits in the Name of Two or More Persons; Deposits
Payable on Death

Joint ownership gives rise to a rebuttable presumption of equal ownership.¹⁵

Joint ownership is useful in situations where the elder remains competent to review expenditures made from an account, but the elder is too physically impaired to go to the bank or spend money in the community. Joint ownership is also useful in situations where the elder's only asset is government benefits for which a payee is established, and no one has access to the elder's account because of the elder's incompetence or physical disability.

Typically, transfers of jointly owned property do not require the consent of all owners. The potential for abuse in joint ownership is very high, as there is no fiduciary duty imposed upon joint owners. There is little practical recourse for a joint owner's employment of undue influence or misuse of jointly held funds, even though a determination of incompetence effectively terminates a joint and survivorship account.¹⁶

In addition to the risk of abuse, adding a person's name to an account will be viewed by government entities as giving that person an ownership interest in the property. The addition of a joint owner may be seen as providing a prohibited gift and prevent the owner from obtaining certain government benefits.

Moreover, tax consequences should be considered prior to the joint titling of property. For example, a real property owner may have a tax exemption that will cease to apply if the property becomes jointly owned. Furthermore, the creditors of the joint owner may be able to attach to the jointly owned property, jointly owned accounts may become subject to the divorce of the joint owner¹⁷, or the jointly owned assets could become a part of the joint owner's estate upon the death of the joint owner.

15 See In re Mayforth's Guardianship, 1 Ohio Supp. 87 (1985) and Abrams v. Nickel, 50 Ohio App. 500, 198 N.E. 887 (1935).

16 See Abrams v. Nickel, 50 Ohio App. 500, 198 N.E. 887 (1935) and Webb v. Webb, 18 Ohio App.3d 287, 249 N.E.2d 83 (Eighth Dist., Cuyahoga County, 1969).

17 R.C. 5815.34 states that the divorce of a party will impact joint ownership and financial institutions are not liable for damages in distribution in accordance with jointly held accounts.

While this alternative avoids guardianship of the estate, routine follow up by the Eldercaring Coordinator or APS should be conducted to ensure that there is no abuse or exploitation.

A less risky alternative to joint ownership is additional signatory for an account. A signatory has no ownership interest in the funds of an account, but the signatory is able to sign for withdrawals.

Conservatorship

Conservatorship is another device that may be used to avoid guardianship of the person and estate. Conservatorship is defined in R.C. 2111.01 and is governed by Sup.R. 50 through 82 and R.C. 2111.021. Under R.C. 2111.151, liability for a conservator is the same as the liability for a guardian. Standard probate forms for conservatorship can be found in Forms 20.0, 20.1, 20.2 and 20.5.

Conservatorship is a voluntary trust relationship using guardianship laws and procedures as the basis for one party, called the conservator, to act with Court supervision for a competent but physically infirm adult, called the conservatee.¹⁸ In order to establish and maintain the conservatorship, the adult must remain competent and continue to consent.¹⁹

A conservatorship is based upon the consent of the conservatee, as the conservatee decides who will serve as conservator, what property and powers of the conservatee will be included in the conservatorship and the term of the conservatorship.²⁰ The powers granted to the conservatee can include powers that are akin to guardian of the person and/or guardian of the estate. In addition, the conservatee decides which of the statutory guardianship duties and procedures the conservator must follow.²¹ Unless specifically excluded, all rules and authority granted through guardianship also apply to conservatorships, including the accounting requirement.²² As a result, conservatorship can be as costly as guardianship.

In order to establish a conservatorship, the probate court must conduct a hearing with findings that the petition was voluntarily filed and that the proposed conservator is suitable.²³ Modifications to the conservatorship may be made by motion to the probate court.²⁴

Conservatorship is terminated by judicial determination of incompetence, death of the conservatee, an order of the Probate Court, or the execution of a written termination notice by the conservatee. Termination of a conservatorship is immediately effective upon execution.²⁵ However, a termination for conservator of the estate is void if not filed within 14 days of execution.²⁶ Failure to date the termination and failure to file the termination with the probate court will void the termination.²⁷

Conservatorship cannot be used as evidence of impairment. Id. Documents in the conservatorship can be made confidential. Id.

Conservatorship is not a viable alternative to guardianship after the incompetence of the conservatee, as the conservatee cannot be mentally incompetent. When an application for conservatorship and guardianship are filed concurrently, the determination regarding competence is the key factor.

This alternative also avoids guardianship, and also requires follow up by the Eldercaring Coordinator or APS to insure that there is no abuse or exploitation.

Representative-Custodial Payee

A Representative-Custodial Payee is yet another method for avoiding guardianship of the estate. A Representative-Custodial Payee is an individual authorized to receive and expend Veteran's benefits, Social Security, Supplemental Security Income, or other government benefits. A Representative-Custodial payee is put in place by a government agency, and the decision to appoint a payee is based upon a court finding of mental incompetence or on sufficient evidence which demonstrates that the recipient's physical or mental incapacity would impair fund management.

R.C. 2111.05 and Sup.R. 66.08(I), state that a guardian of the estate is unnecessary when the proposed ward's assets consist entirely of government benefits for which a representative-custodial payee exists. Representative-Custodial payees already provide an accounting to the respective government agency for expenditures. Additionally, the respective government agencies determine whether applicants are suitable payees and are able to address malfeasance committed by payees.²⁸

Protective Services and Protective Orders

Protective services can be an effective alternative for guardianship for short-term problems. R.C. 5101.60 et seq provides for adult protective services. As an alternative to emergency guardianship, protective services ordered under R.C. 5101.69 works well. This is not a long-term solution to an elder's persistent state of incompetence.

For situations in which the adult is otherwise competent to handle his/her own affairs, a protection order provides another short-term alternative to guardianship.

9. SAMPLE PROTECTIVE SERVICES ORDERS POLICY

- Ohio statutes provide County Department of Job and Family Services (CDJFS) the ability to petition for a court order to provide protective services. It is recommended that each agency have a written policy to ensure cases are handled uniformly. Below are a sample policy and forms for local agencies to consider.

Ohio statutes provide County Department of Job and Family Services (CDJFS) the ability to petition for a court order to provide protective services.

- R.C. 5101.68 outlines that petitioning for a Court Order to Provide Protective Services (commonly referred as a general or routine order) may take place when an adult is in need of protective services and is an incapacitated person.
 - R.C. 5101.70 defines the Emergency Order; the court may issue an order authorizing the provision of protective services, on an emergency basis, for a period of the 14 days, plus one renewal of 14 days.
 - R.C. 5101.701 defines an Ex Parte Emergency Order that may be issued by telephone to an adult on an emergency basis when the court determines that an adult is in immediate and irreparable risk of physical harm.
 - When the Adult Protective Services (APS) worker determines that protective services are necessary for an adult who is at imminent risk of serious physical/financial harm and there is no one who can or can consent to the provision of protective service, the CDJFS, through the prosecuting attorney or designee, will consider petitioning the court for a protective services order (PSO).
1. The APS worker will discuss the case with their immediate supervisor and/or designee to ensure that least restrictive alternatives have been exhausted.
Discussion should include:
 - A. The protective plan was presented to the client in a manner that is clear and understandable in order to gain client's consent.
 - B. Presenting the protective plan to family member(s) who is able to consent to services.
 2. Upon review of a case and interventions, the APS worker will complete the Protective Service Summary Outline and forward the outline via email to their immediate supervisor and/or designee for approval.
 3. The prosecuting attorney or designee is made available to provide legal consultation as needed via phone, email and/or in person.

9. SAMPLE PROTECTIVE SERVICES ORDERS POLICY - *cont.

4. The supervisor will forward the approved PSO outline to the assigned prosecuting attorney or designee (or legal consult). If available, copies the Statement of Expert Evaluation and/or additional supporting documentation also is forwarded to the prosecutor's office.
5. If a guardianship for the adult is being considered in addition to the petition, the APS worker will make an immediate referral to either the guardianship services provider or probate court, whichever is appropriate. A court summary is to be provided.
6. The assigned prosecuting attorney or designee will review the outline and prepare the affidavit for the APS worker's signature. The worker signing the affidavit must have personal knowledge of the facts contained in the affidavit.
7. The prosecuting attorney or designee prepares the petition and other legal documents, including Notice of Hearing and Affidavit of Service. The prosecuting attorney or designee ensures that guardianship referral is promptly sent to the probate court.
8. The prosecuting attorney or designee contacts the APS worker to advise him/her that the documents are ready for signature and filing with the court.
9. The APS worker visits the Office of the Prosecuting Attorney to execute the affidavit. The prosecuting attorney or designee files with the court and a hearing date is scheduled. The prosecuting attorney of designee finalizes the Notice of Hearing.
10. The APS worker takes copies of the petition and Notice of Hearing for personal service to the adult, family members and/or caretaker. The APS worker retains the Affidavit of Service for signature to provide at the hearing. The Attorney will notarize. If testimony of witnesses or collateral contacts; such as PASSPORT, Hospice, or other professionals are necessary; the APS caseworker must make the prosecuting attorney or designee aware so the subpoenas may be served upon witnesses or other notice provided.
11. For emergency orders, the hearing is set between 24 hours and 72 hours of serving the petition. For general or routine orders the hearing is set between 5 days to 14 days of serving the petition.
12. The APS worker must attend the court hearing. The worker will testify under oath to the facts and circumstances set forth in the affidavit, which was filed with the petition. The court will also hear opposing testimony where the adult or other persons have the right to disagree with the APS care plan. The executed affidavit of service becomes a part of the court file.

13. Where the court is satisfied, by clear and convincing evidence that the proposed protective service plan is in the adult's best interest, the court will issue an order for the plan. The Emergency Order is valid for 14 days and renewable for an additional 14. The renewal must be applied for prior to the expiration of the first 14 days. The general or routine order is valid no longer than 6 months. The prosecuting attorney or designee will handle and contact the APS worker for additional information if needed, such as new placement.
 14. After the hearing, the APS worker accompanies the prosecuting attorney or designee to the office of the clerk of courts. The attorney requests two (or more if needed) certified copies of the judge's order. One certified copy is given by the APS worker to the facility admitting the adult.
 15. As a department best practice, the APS worker will be present if the adult is in the community when the Protective Service Order is served to assist in necessitating the provision of the court ordered protective plan.
 16. For hospital or nursing home admission, a copy of the judge's order is delivered to the APS supervisor or designees, who will sign all necessary documents (e.g. consent to treat, admission's paperwork).
 17. Prior to the expiration of the emergency order, one of the following must occur:
 - A. Possible need of a Guardianship hearing for the appointment of a guardian for client;
 - B. Petition for (general or routine) protective service (R.C. 5101.65) is filed with the court; or
 - C. Other protective service plan is implemented to restore safety to the client.

14. ADVISORY COMMITTEE ON CHILDREN AND FAMILIES

History and Background

The Supreme Court Advisory Committee on Children and Families was originally created by Chief Justice Thomas J. Moyer in 2002, with the purpose of providing ongoing advice to the chief justice and the justices and staff of the Supreme Court. The Advisory Committee's duties include the promotion of statewide rules and uniform standards concerning the establishment and operation of programs for children and families in Ohio courts, the development and delivery of services to Ohio courts on matters involving children and families (including education programs for judges and court personnel), and the consideration of any other issues necessary to assist the Court and its staff regarding children and families in Ohio courts.

The advisory committee consists of no more than 24 members who are appointed by the chief justice. Membership is broad-based and multi-disciplinary so as to represent a cross section of interests related to the issues of children and families in the courts, and represent the gender, racial, ethnic, political, and geographic diversity of Ohio. While the advisory committee itself is limited in size, over one-hundred professionals participate on the advisory committee and its subcommittees and workgroups.

The advisory committee has issued reports on Family Law Reform, Guardian ad litem Standards, and Responding to Child Abuse, Neglect, and Dependency. As a result of these reports the Supreme Court adopted Rule of Superintendence 48 on Guardian ad litem Standards, collaborated on the establishment of Ohio's Alternative Response, and adopted changes to Rule of Superintendence 44 on Court Records, to clarify which Domestic Relations and Juvenile court records are considered confidential.

Current work by the advisory committee has focused on adult guardianship standards in probate court, the need for quality parent representation in child welfare cases, youth and caregiver engagement in court proceedings, and juvenile justice recommendations.

Additional information on the advisory committee, including its current member roster and reports, is on the Supreme Court's website.

Charge of the Advisory Committee on Children and Families

As issued by the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Ohio, the advisory committee shall provide ongoing advice to the Court and its staff regarding all of the following:

- 1) The promotion of statewide rules and uniform standards concerning the establishment and operations of programs for children and families in Ohio courts;
- 2) The development and delivery of services to Ohio courts on matters involving children and families, including education programs for judges and court personnel;
- 3) The consideration of any other issues the advisory committee deems necessary to assist the Court and its staff regarding children and families in Ohio courts.
